Places Visited

St Nicholas Church, Steventon

The church of St Nicholas lies nearly half a mile from the centre of Steventon village. The Rectory where Jane Austen was born and spent her first 25 years was pulled down by her brother Edward in favour of a grander house on an eminence overlooking the village.

The church dates from the twelfth century and remains a small simple building despite some restoration in Victorian times which included the addition of stained glass windows and a steeple on the tower. Memorials to the Austen family, some of whom were Rectors of Steventon, can be seen in the church and the churchyard.

Chawton House

Chawton House is over four hundred years old. It was built by the Knight family in the 1580s following the acquisition of the estate by Nicholas Knight in 1578. There was already a manor house on the estate prior to this, first recorded in 1224. The house's most famous association is with Jane Austen, whose brother Edward, inherited the house when distant family members Thomas and Catherine Knight, made him their heir. Edward offered the bailiff's residence, five minutes' walk from Chawton House, to his mother and sisters, Jane and Cassandra, and it was there, now the Jane Austen's House Museum, where Jane enjoyed the most prolific period of her writing life.

Chawton House Museum

Jane Austen's House Museum in Chawton, Hampshire, is the house where Jane Austen lived and wrote. It is the most treasured Austen site in the world. It was here that Jane's genius flourished and where she wrote, revised and had published all her major works: Sense and Sensibility, Pride and Prejudice, Mansfield Park, Emma, Northanger Abbey and Persuasion.

Cassandra's Cup Tea Room

Nestled in the heart of the beautiful and quaint village of Chawton, opposite Jane Austen's House Museum, Cassandra's Cup is a traditional English tea room. They offer an extensive range of traditional and specialty teas and coffees as well as scones, home-made cakes, light snacks, hearty home-cooked meals and, of course, traditional English Afternoon Tea and Cream Teas.

Your Guide

Jane Tapley will be your guide during the trip. Jane has been a Blue Badge Guide for over thirty years and regularly accompanies groups of all kinds from students to senior citizens around Bath and the West Country. In addition she has worked as an adviser and guide for several TV companies in Bath when they have been filming period dramas. Her earlier career and the reason for moving to Bath in the late 60's was as a Home Economist with a particular interest in period food and dining habits. As a result she recreates Georgian meals in her Regency home during the annual Jane Austen Festival which attracts visitors from around the world.

Jane Tapley will give two lectures during the tour:

'Austen's Arcadia - The Life and Times of Jane Austen'

'Rummaging Through the Reticule'
