Places Visited

Russell Cotes Museum

East Cliff Hall was the home of Merton (1835-1921) and Annie Russell-Cotes (1835-1920). The building of East Cliff Hall was begun in 1897 and was completed in its first form in 1901. The house was designed by the architect, John Frederick Fogerty, but Merton and Annie had a great deal of input into the design. It was designed so that they could live in style and comfort and to house their growing collections. The house was to be a showcase, not simply for their own enjoyment, but also for the people of Bournemouth to whom it was given. On 15 July 1901, Merton presented East Cliff Hall to his wife as a gift on her 66th birthday. This was the same year that Queen Victoria died, making the house one of the last Victorian buildings ever built.

St Peters Church

St. Peter's was built between 1844 and 1879 by the architect G.E Street and is the mother church of Bournemouth. The church is located in the heart of the town centre next to Beales department store and is home to works by Burne-Jones and other leading Arts and Crafts artists. The church hosts regular lunchtime recitals and there will be the opportunity for you to attend the classical recital during lunch.

Poole Museum

Set in a Victorian quayside warehouse, with an atrium extension dating from 2007, the Museum's galleries tell the story of the historic maritime town of Poole and its Harbour from prehistory to the 21st century. Poole Museum is housed in four closely connected but very different buildings. You enter through the new atrium building, designed by architects Horden Cherry Lee, and completed in 2007. You then walk through into Oakley's Mill, a Victorian grain warehouse and flour mill with floors supported by heavy beams and posts. The medieval Ship Inn used to occupy this site and, from that building, there are a remarkable set of carved timbers – two of which are displayed on the First Floor. The third building is the Town Cellars. Originally built about 1300, it has impressive stone walls and a magnificent timber roof. Across Salisbury

Street is the fourth building, Scaplen's Court, Poole's most complete medieval domestic building. The herb and physic garden is open throughout the summer and Scaplen's Court can be visited during August.

Your Guide

Your guide, Prof Anne Anderson, is a NADFAS lecturer who has published many academic papers in highly regarded journals, is an expert on Arts and Crafts.

Anne will give two talks during your tour:

Practical Information

Tour manager - Your tour manager will be on hand throughout the tour to ensure that everything operates according to plan. If you have any problems or questions please see him or her immediately – it is often possible to resolve complaints or problems very quickly on the spot, and do everything to help you enjoy your holiday.

Tipping – To keep our tours affordable, we do not increase the tour price by adding in tips. However, in the tourism industry, there is a certain level of expectation that when receiving a good service, one does award with a tip. Tour Managers, Representatives, Guides and Drivers appreciate a tip at the end of their involvement with the tour, but this is entirely at your discretion. We believe in allowing you to tip according to your level of satisfaction with their services, but for your guidance about £2-3 per person per day for the tour manager is the norm. We would like to reiterate that tipping is an entirely optional payment and this information is given purely to answer any questions you may have about it.

Walking Content – This tour has been graded a 4 out of 5 for walking difficulty.

Walking difficulty:

Please see the key below for an explanation of the footprint symbols:

Very little walking involved
Relaxed easy pace, mainly walking from coach to site
Some walking between sites, good, flat walking surfaces
Walking between sites, lots of standing for viewings
On your feet all day, uneven terrain (cobblestones etc)
